

TAMPERTECH Teaches: What is a Non-Residue Void?

Tamper evident tapes and labels can have a range of different void styles one of which is non-residue.

So what is a non-residue void?

This is when our labels or tapes are voided from tampering or removal of the product a void message will appear on the label or tap without leaving any residue behind on the surface it was on.

This allows non-residue tapes and labels to be used for a wide range of security from things like room security and I.T. protection to security seals for aircraft! as they do not leave a permanent residue behind which means they are ideal for short term security.

If you have any other questions about our Non-Residue void's do get in touch!