

TAMPERTECH Teaches: What is water fugitive?

Water fugitive is a special layer of security to protect against water and solvent attacks

Tamper evident bag tapes are an amazing layer of security, and can be even stronger with water fugitive and here's why :

- It instantly highlights if a bag has been sealed properly
- Highlights attacks with water being used as barrier between the bag and the glue to stop the tape adhering effectively
- Highlights attacks with solvent to try and remove the tape from the bag

By doing this it makes tampering with packaging much harder, making it easier to pinpoint where in your supply chain a security break is happening much easier, allowing you to address security breach proactively.

To find out more about how our range of tamper evident bag tape can fit in the security cycle then do get in touch!